

Home upgrades for winter days

As winter approaches, create cosy internal spaces with a renewed conservatory and upgraded windows and doors from Eastern Frames.

Experts in uPVC and aluminium glazing for all areas of your home, Eastern Frames Directors Anthony and Darren Boyle have built the business by providing a tailored and reliable service that meets customers' specific needs.

In King's Lynn, Mr Wylie had approached four specialist companies to request a quote for work he wanted to carry out on his leaky windows, dated conservatory and poorly fitting door. He was shocked by the lack of professionalism he found, with most declining to respond or failing to keep booked appointments.

However, Mr Wylie was impressed by the excellent advice and customer care he received from Eastern Frames, with Anthony paying a personal visit. "We don't employ salesman," Anthony explains. "Our knowledgeable project managers conduct the initial meeting so we can provide practical and straightforward answers to your questions from the first time we visit right up to the day of completion."

With a large amount of work needed, Mr Wylie was concerned that the project might exceed his budget. Eastern Frames provided individual quotes for each component, allowing him to prioritise expenses including costs for replacement windows, a warm roof, and a new composite door.

"By working with some of the existing structural elements of the property, we were able to provide a cost-effective solution and delivered the whole project with the funds available," Anthony says.

The Eastern Frames team began by checking the footings of the existing conservatory were up to standard and substantial enough to support the new work they had planned. The house and conservatory then received a makeover using top-class materials with excellent thermal efficiency.

"We installed white PVC windows throughout the project and a stylish composite door, giving a smart consistent look," Anthony describes. "We kept the original brickwork on the conservatory and installed a lightweight warm roof. We also added integral blinds to the windows which shield the sun in hot weather and provide privacy without the hassle of screwing up curtains."

Mr Wylie can now enjoy views over his peaceful garden from the updated, sleek, and modern conservatory.

"It's a significant additional space achieved on a modest budget without the need for planning permission or building work," says Anthony. "It's a very simple renovation process."
